PLAN STATEWIDE FIGHT ON GAS RATES

GOVERNOR URGED TO FOLLOW FOOTSTEPS OF OTHER STATES

FORMATION OF ORGANIZATION TO FIGHT GAS RATES IN MANY CITIES PLANNED

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—(P)—Formation of a state-wide organization to fight against natural gas rates charged by public utilities companies in approximately 600 cities, was undertaken here today at a meeting of officials from 30 cities.

Mayor H. G. Tuck, of Sherman declared that the Governor and attorney general must be aroused to the needs of nearly 500,000 consumers of natural gas in Texas. He told how the governors of Kansas and Oklahoma had succeeded in obtaining reduced prices in their states.

The meeting, which was featured by speeches protesting against current rates, produced a general agreement that the state railroad commission be petitioned to make a survey of gas company costs from producer to final consumer, and fix a reasonable rate. Speakers charged the gas companies with accumulating enormous profits in the past 10 years.

The fight will be carried on through the Texas League of Municipalities. Today's meeting was sponsored by the league of 21 cities, composed of North Texas towns served by the Municipal Gas company.

Tuck said large consumers had been able to get rates reduced to 27-1-2 cents per 1000 cubic feet in Sherman. He said the "little fellow" was the one who was suffering.

Present rates in the 21 cities served by the Municipal Gas company were said to be 75 cents per 1000 feet, with a 50-cent ready-to-serve charge. The latter was retained by the local company, but the former was split with the producing company on a 2 to 1 basis.

MANY OF FOREST FIRES BELIEVED BE INCENDIARY ORIGIN

TWO HUNDRED SEPARATE BLAZES CAUSE LOSSES TO MOUNT HIGH

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 6.—(P)—Two hundred separate forest fires, the worst ones reported by foresters to be incendiary, caused damage to mount today in northwestern forests.

A majority of crews which totaled more than 2500 men were fighting blazes forest officials declared were man-set. Secret agents of the federal forest service were in the danger zones hunting persons they believe have been igniting bone-dry timber areas at widely scattered points.

Foresters would not give details on the situation, and declined to comment on the possibility of a relation between the hand set blazes and unemployment conditions, valley conflagration, largest of the fires declared to be incendiary, was lashed three hours yesterday by a hard wind. Estimates of the area burned ranged from 30,000 to 40,000 acres.

The forest office at Missoula, Mont., reported the Deer creek fire in the Kootenai forest was being guarded by a reinforced crew of 1169 men.

Five big blazes were raging in central Idaho. Fires alternately threatened and subsided in territory north of here as winds changed.

Damage to northwest timber land so far was more than $1,000,000, foresters estimated. The figure included the value of between 25 and 30 burned homes and hundreds of head of live stock.

The fires have claimed two lives and injured six men. One man, 65 years old, died from over-exertion on the fire lines and another man was killed by a falling tree.

Deputy Sheriff Is Released Under Bond

WOODVILLE, Aug. 6.—(P)—Deputy Sheriff J. D. Glover was free under $2000 bond today in connection with a murder charge pending against him for the shooting last Sunday of George K. Gibbs, editor of the Tyler County Optimist. He waived preliminary hearing, Gibbs was allegedly killed when he resisted arrest and menaced Glover with a pistol.

Boomed For President

Nearly everyone of the 8,000 inhabitants of Hillsboro, Texas, gathered in the courthouse square of that town Saturday and launched a campaign to make Melvin A. Taylor, Chicago banker, (above), the democratic nominee for president in 1932. Hillsboro feels that it has a special right to launch the Taylor-for-President movement, since the man who is now president of the First National Bank of Chicago began his business career in Hillsboro in 1898.

KELLY FIELD CADET INSTANTLY KILLED IN CRASH OF PLANE

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6.—(P)—Flying Cadet Paul E. Reiser, student pilot in the pursuit section of the advanced flying school, Kelly field, was instantly killed near here today when his plane crashed.

There were no eye-witnesses of the accident, insofar as the preliminary investigation of Kelly field officials could determine. Further investigation will be made in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

Cadet Reiser was flying alone, engaged in acrobatic training practice over the area extending toward Medina lake. A farmer reported that he saw the plane crash to the ground.

From the appearance of the wreck, Kelly field officers who visited the scene of the accident, expressed the belief the plane had crashed straight to the ground. Cadet Reiser was born in 1906 and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Reiser of Troy, Idaho. He was a graduate of the March Field, Calif., primary flying school.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS IS LOSING GROUND AS RESULT FIGHT STAGED BY SCIENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(P)—Infantile paralysis, that dreaded ogre whose head came cropping out each summer, is losing ground in its struggle with science.

The public health service, whose laboratory expert Dr. W. H. Frost, first found out through monkey studies the disease apparently could be checked by spinal injection of convalescent serum, today took an optimistic view of its future control.

Dr. J. P. Leake, author of several studies on the subject, declared that its deadlines already had somewhat receded. He said further possibilities in serum studies such as those now in progress in New York, where Governor Roosevelt, once a victim of the disease, gave his own immunized blood, and public funds were provided for prevention measures.

Dr. Leake advanced a future possibility, not yet sufficiently tested, the prevention of child paralysis by improved sick bed care and the administration of adult serums.

"The paralysis is the thing to be dreaded, and the paralysis is not the disease, it is the scar of the disease—like small pox scars," said Dr. Leake. "The disease itself is a fever, far more prevalent than people realize—in many cases occurring unrecognized."

"It almost seems a good proportion of the adult population in congested districts have had the disease enough to be immunized." These healthy adults, Dr. Leake said, may be found to have blood of sufficient anti-poliomyelitis potency to confer the disease in its meningitis stage—before the paralysis sets in.

GREATER SEMINOLE AND OKLAHOMA CITY FIELDS ARE DEAD

LOOKS LIKE ENDURANCE CONTEST BETWEEN GOV. MURRAY AND MAJORS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—(P)—Quiet spread over the major part of Oklahoma's rich flush oil areas today as national guardsmen moved to the few remaining wells not yet closed in compliance with Governor Murray's executive order.

All wells in the greater Seminole area, comprising more than 40 square miles of the 27 flush pools cited by the governor, were closed during the afternoon and night yesterday, with the exception of strippers and those pumping water.

A check revealed that only five wells, also exempted, were drilling in the entire zone.

The Chandler area, comprising 44 wells, and the 66-well Tatum pool of Carter county remained to be closed.

At Oklahoma City a handful of drilling wells showed their strings of lights last night and the grunting of the mud pumps sounded.

ONE OF NEGROES SOUGHT IN DEATH OFFICER CAUGHT

CONSTABLE DIES WOUNDS AND JUSTICE OF PEACE CRITICALLY WOUNDED

HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—(P)—One of the negroes sought for the slaying late yesterday of Constable Thomas Beckett near Tomball and the wounding of Justice of the Peace B. H. Dulaney of precinct 3, Montgomery county, was in the Harris county jail this afternoon.

He was captured by a posse of about 100 men and boys near Willow Church in the northern part of Harris county.

He denied that he fired the shots that killed Beckett and blamed on his companion, George Tolson, 17-year-old farm hand, who still was being sought.

The two officers were shot while they were taking the negroes over the bridge to the Conroe jail after they had been arraigned before Justice Dulaney on a charge of stealing a tire.

NEGROES ARRESTED BY CITY OFFICERS WANTED IN WICHITA

PRISONER ATTEMPTED ESCAPE; FIVE FUR COATS ARE RECOVERED

Jumping from a second floor window of the City Hall dodging as several shots were fired at him by members of the police force, a negro led officers on a swift chase for about two blocks shortly after he was arrested about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Checking up on some information that they had received, Chief of Detectives Bruce Nutt and Detective Ruff Tickle paid a call to the eastern residential section of the city where they found two negroes in possession of a considerable quantity of clothing. They placed the negroes under arrest and brought them to the city hall for investigation.

Jumped From Window. One of the negroes had been fingerprinted and was being taken to the washroom adjoining police headquarters by Desk Sergeant R. A. Mergenthaler when he suddenly made a break for freedom, jumping from a second floor window to the concrete washing rack on the ground floor in the rear of the fire station and then

NABBED ON HIS TORIC COMMON

Historic Boston Common was the scene of "Goldie" Waldman's downfall when Communist agitators voiced their fiery denunciations of all things American before a huge crowd. "Goldie" is shown being escorted to jail by brawny arms of the law. Even though she may be small, she put up quite a protest to being transferred from the great open spaces of Boston Common to the close confines of a cell. Fourteen other over-enthusiastic "Reds" suffered a similar fate.

BRIDGE INJUNCTION FINALLY DISSOLVED IN FEDERAL COURT

RESTRAINING ORDER PREVENTS OPENING BRIDGE PREVIOUSLY SUSPENDED

HOUSTON, Aug. 6.—(P)—The temporary injunction given the Red River Bridge company several weeks ago, and recently suspended, was finally dissolved today by United States District Judge T. M. Kennedy.

The injunction restrained the Texas highway department from opening a free bridge, parallel to the bridge company's toll bridge over the Red river, north of Denison. The bridge company claimed the highway department had failed to pay it certain sums agreed upon as damages, prior to the completion of the free bridge.

A rush bill was enacted by the legislature authorizing the bridge company to sue the highway commission, and then Judge Kennedy dissolved its temporary injunction.

J. R. Handy, receiver for the bridge company, and his counsel, contended that the legislative act may be invalid, and its passage was unconstitutional in that in its enactment certain requirements were not complied with.

Judge Kennedy, in his findings, held that the act was valid, that it was a general law, and that "the legislature in passing this act had in mind, considered and was influenced by all the facts, that the Red River Bridge company for many years operated a toll bridge across the Red river, the boundary line between Oklahoma and Texas; that

Child Playing on Highway Believed Fatally Injured

FARMERSVILLE, Aug. 6.—(P)—Physicians held little hope today for the recovery of Buddy McCarty, 5, who was run down by an automobile while playing on the highway in a cotton patch here last night. The driver failed to stop and render aid.

Officers learned that the driver stopped his car farther down the highway, and unloaded 25 gallons of liquor in a cotton patch. He then drove to Blue Ridge where he sent a doctor to the McCarty residence.

Identity of the driver had not been determined today. Vague descriptions were given by several children playing with the McCarty boy.

GIRL CRITICALLY HURT. DENTON, Aug. 6.—(P)—Miss Marcella Stoke of Abilene was critically injured today when the automobile in which she was riding overturned on the highway. A few miles northeast of here, her head was crushed and physicians said there was little hope of saving her life.

NON-STOP RACE IN PROSPECT FROM JAP CAPITAL TO SEATTLE

HERNDON AND PANGBORN AND MOYLE AND ALLEN PLANNING PACIFIC FLIGHT

TOKYO, Aug. 6.—(P)—A non-stop race between two monoplane pilots from Tokyo to Seattle, with a large cash award awaiting the winner, appeared as a possibility today with the arrival here by airplane and boat of four American aviators.

Hugh Herndon Jr. and Clyde Pangborn, who abandoned an around-the-world race in quest of the record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, landed at Haneda aerodrome near here at 5:50 p. m. (2:50 a. m. central standard time) today from Khabarovsk, Siberia.

A damaged wing and unfavorable weather had held them at Khabarovsk until their record-breaking aspirations went glimmering. They left Khabarovsk at 6:56 a. m. today (3:56 p. m. Wednesday, central standard time) with the announcement they would come to Japan to attempt a non-stop flight to Seattle.

Don Moyle and C. A. Allen arrived on the M. S. Chichibu Maru from the United States by Wednesday. They were contemplating a non-stop flight to the Puget Sound metropolis in the monoplane City of Tacoma, now

MYSTERIOUS FLIGHT OF WELL KNOWN AVIATOR ENDS IN GREENLAND

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—(P)—Officials of Trans-American Airlines Corporation today confirmed reports of the charting of a new transatlantic air mail route, in the course of which Barker "Shorty" Cramer landed his Diesel powered Bellanca monoplane yesterday at Angmagssalik, Greenland, after crossing the Greenland ice cap.

Cramer was scheduled to take off for Reykjavik, Iceland today. The route from Detroit to Copenhagen is 4,369 miles, 2,600 miles of it over land.

From Detroit it extends over the Canadian timber lake region, past Hudson Bay, and then across Greenland to Iceland and the Faroe Islands to Copenhagen.

In the establishment of the air mail route it is planned to make thirteen hops, with the plane refueling at each stop to carry as large a payload as possible.

BREAK THREATENED BETWEEN GRAIN CO-OPERATIVE BODIES AND FEDERAL FARM BOARD

TEXAS LEGISLATORS DISCUSS NUMEROUS SUBJECTS THURSDAY

FINALLY REACH CONSIDERATION OF OIL CONSERVATION STATUTES

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(P)—The Texas legislature got down busily today to the business in hand—consideration of oil conservation bills.

In the senate, more than an hour was consumed in arguing about the advisability of local bills on foreign subjects and on a bill to preserve buffaloes before an old debate on the Woodward administration supported a bill to create a new conservation commission was resumed.

In the house, the situation in Russia occupied consideration for nearly an hour, a proposed small appropriation for the game, fish and oyster commission next was taken up and the body finally began considering the Woodward administration bill holding the floor most of the time.

The senate debate, which started late afternoon yesterday, found proponents of amendments to the Woodward bill holding the floor most of the time. The amendments would abolish a number of other departments, including the state board of water engineers, the state reclamation engineer and the

TWO VACANT POSTS ON FEDERAL BOARD PRESENT SESSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(P)—Two chairs around the farm board's conference table were vacant during important discussions about wheat and cotton policies. They became empty in early June when no successors were named to fill them.

Several names have been suggested to President Towser, who has not indicated who may be appointed.

McKelvie, grain member of the board, left after returning from the London international wheat conference. Soon thereafter the board found itself confronted with growing demands that it withhold stabilization wheat from domestic markets. His counsel was missing in the subsequent deliberations.

Fruits and vegetables were Tanager's specialty. He returned to California, where he was engaged in a business, before the board had an opportunity of acting up an application from the California grape control board for a loan of between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000.

Those negotiations were turned over to Charles S. Wilson. They are expected to be completed this week.

THOUSANDS DEAD, IN CHINESE FLOODS IN HANKOW SECTOR

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS HOMELESS; FAMINE AND DISEASE STALK

HANKOW, China, Aug. 6.—(P)—Thousands were reported dead, hundreds of thousands were homeless and famine and disease hovered over Central and North China today as the great Yangtze and Yellow rivers overflowed their banks, inundating vast areas.

Appeals for aid throughout the area, which embraces a population of two hundred millions, poured in upon the government. No accurate tally of the dead, injured and homeless was possible but the government's relief committee estimated 50,000,000 persons were or soon would be afflicted.

Torrential rains for the last three weeks have sent the Yangtze and Yellow rivers and their tributaries to record heights.

Many cities were flooded. Sections of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, important Yangtze "triple cities" with a combined population of 1,300,000, including 1,200 foreigners, were under water.

Two hundred thousand refugees in Hankow sought safety at higher levels. Thirty thousand joined them daily on railway embankments and elevated highways and in boats. It was feared that pestilence would strike heavily.

The Chinese press said "several thousand" drowned in the triple cities alone. Scores were believed to have drowned in Kiangsu Province when the old bed of the Yellow river, dry for 65 years, became a raging torrent.

A hot sun beat upon the Yangtze Valley today when the rains ceased, adding to the danger of disease. Melting snows in the Himalayas were expected to add to the volume of the flood.

TEXAS GOVERNOR PLEADS FOR USING OF MORE COTTON

ADDS VOICE TO USE MORE COTTON AT HOME IDEAS OF SOUTHERN LEADERS

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(P)—Governor R. S. Sterling today added his voice to the plea to "use more cotton at home."

"On its face this idea may not appear to have any great bearing on what is generally admitted to be a grave condition of affairs, but in reality its adoption and application in purely legitimate fields, where the use of cotton represents sound business sense, means the saving of millions of dollars annually to the southern states. We should use more cotton, not merely this year as a means of helping us out of an emergency, but next year and every other year," the governor stated.

He pointed out the cotton farmer was being forced to look more and more to the domestic market for the sale of cotton since every factor having a bearing on the situation pointed to the conclusion.

Use of cotton bagging for bales of cotton and its use for sack feed, fertilizer, sugar and various food products, was urged by the governor. Housewives were enjoined by Governor Sterling to aid in the movement by substituting cotton for hundreds of articles of clothing and for general household purposes. The governor also added his support to the movement to replace all worn out mattresses with new cotton mattresses this fall.

The Association for the Increased Use of Cotton was recommended to the citizenry by Governor Sterling as being worthy of both financial and moral support.

BLAME COMMUNISTS FOR DEATH THREE CHICAGO NEGROES

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Communists were blamed by police today for a brief but sanguinary riot on Chicago's South Side in which three negroes were slain and one was seriously wounded. Three policemen who helped put down the disorder were injured. Several scores of the participants were arrested. Three were said by police to have been ringleaders.

Immediate steps were taken by officials including Mayor Anton J. Cermak and Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton to prevent a repetition of the disorder which began late yesterday afternoon when several hundred negroes started a demonstration in protest against the eviction of a negro family for non-payment of rent.

A crowd of negroes, estimated by police at 1,000, gathered and shouted defiance as two court bailiffs started to move to the street the household furniture of Diana Cross, from a flat at Dearborn and 80th streets. Frightened, the bailiffs, telephoned for police. Cries of "put that furniture back" and "we want something to eat" were heard and some of the crowd started to put the furniture back.

A patrol wagon, manned by policeman Fred Graham, a negro, Martin Eubank and John McFadden, arrived, but the trio was quickly surrounded by the rioters, many of whom were armed with knives, clubs and pistols. Ernest suffered a skull fracture. His companions were cut. When the reserves, including Sergeant Henry Lyons, came to their aid, a negro pulled Lyons' pistol from his holster and threatened to shoot. As he did so Policeman William Jordan fired and the negro fell dead. A few minutes later Lyons, who had recovered his pistol, paid his debt to Jordan by killing a negro who was firing at Jordan from a nearby doorway.

The manner of the third man's death could not be learned. Mayor Cermak ordered a conference of police officials, his cabinet, and leaders of the negro race at which it was agreed that there was no antagonism between the races and that the trouble was due solely to communistic propaganda. The arrest of Lovett Fort-Whiteman, a negro and former student in a soviet school in Russia, was asked. Meanwhile it was also agreed that Al Horan, bailiff of the municipal court, hold up all eviction orders for the present.

The following case was filed: Mrs. J. N. Berry, et vir, vs. S. J. Thigpen, Byram Humphries and the Corsicana Hotel Company, damages.

Warranty Deeds. R. E. Tatum and Miss Annie Tatum to M. L. Suttle, lot 9, block 14, Navarro, $175. E. A. Stuart, et al, Dee Stuart to Mrs. Alene Green, 100 acres of the Robert Finney survey, $3,000, and other considerations. Constable's Office.

An ex-service man, claiming Waxahachie as his home, was in custody Tuesday morning in connection with the alleged displaying of a pistol.

Constable C. P. Brooks reported the following cases handled by his department during the week-end:

Whiskey, 1; Swindling with a worthless check, 1; Affray, 2; Drunkenness, 4.

Justice Court. Judge J. L. Cox assessed one fine Tuesday morning for alleged simple assault and two were sent to the county farm Monday to work out fines for affrays. A complaint was filed in Judge Cox's court Tuesday morning for alleged operating an automobile without brakes and another for alleged driving of an automobile while intoxicated.

PORTO RICAN COMMISSIONER SAYS PEOPLE OF ISLAND ARE AGAINST PROHIBITION LAW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—Commissioner Davila of Porto Rico predicted today a vote on prohibition in the island would be overwhelmingly against that law and said he was going to seek authority from congress next winter for such a ballot.

Davila, who came here by plane last week, said prohibition had failed in Porto Rico. Director of the prohibition bureau, after a recent inspection trip to the island, criticized the enforcement there and announced plans for providing 10 more dry officers.

Davila said it was practically "impossible" to make the dry law effective in the island. "We have islands of the West Indies close by, and it is very easy to smuggle in from those countries," he said. "There is no place proportionate to its size where more liquor is sold. The result is that the bootleggers thrive, while the island is deprived of $4,000,000 it would get in revenue if prohibition were not in effect."

The commissioner said congressional appropriations "on account of the distressed condition of our people" would not be necessary if prohibition were abolished. "I voted for prohibition," he added, "but I am convinced of the impossibility of enforcing the law. At the same time that law is doing a great deal of harm to the people of Porto Rico. Our legislature should be allowed to act in the matter just the same as the Philippine islands. There is no prohibition in the Philippines."

Davila said the first saloon was established in the island "only after the advent of the United States there."

"Prohibition is not necessary in Porto Rico," he insisted, "and it is a burden on the island."

Youth Loses Leg As Result Train Accident Teague

TEAGUE, Aug. 4.—(Spl.)—Hubert Bratton, 21, of Anona, Texas, had his leg cut off under a freight car in the Burlington-Rock Island yards here Saturday morning.

According to the best information, the lad and a companion had been to a point in the vicinity of Houston in search of a job picking cotton. Finding the season too cold for picking they were returning home via freight cars. The lad was seated on the rail under the end of a still freight car talking to a companion, when a switch engine bumped the string of cars at the other end, moving the freight car just enough to stop the trucks on the lad's leg just below the knee.

He was rushed to Lattimore sanitarium where the leg was amputated just above the knee, and having complications, he will be out in a few weeks.

Bandit Takes Motorcycle and Arms of Cops

DALLAS, Aug. 4.—(P)—Motorcycle Police Officer J. W. Guttering and C. W. Holder today found themselves without firearms and with only one motorcycle between them as the result of a meeting with a suspicious-looking stranger last night.

Encountering a pedestrian who was carrying a bag, the officers stopped to question him. Holder stood guard while Guttering questioned the man. Guttering then directed the stranger to open the mysterious bag he carried. The stranger complied and extracted a pistol, which he trained on his interrogators. He forced the officers to surrender their pistols, punctured the tires of one motorcycle, and escaped on the other.

BRIAND-KELLOGG PEACE PACT HELD GREAT DOCUMENT

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL SAYS WAS TIDE THAT TURNED AGAINST WAR

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 4.—(P)—The Kellogg-Briand peace pact outlawing war as a means of settling disputes between nations was described today by James Oliver Murdock as the cornerstone of a new international social order.

The assistant solicitor of the state department told the Institute of Politics here that "the great social significance of the pact is that it has effected a turn in the tide of world affairs away from war towards international peace."

The nations of the world are on a new highway to international cooperation, law and order. Previous to the Paris pact for the renunciation of war Murdock explained, international relations had been conducted in two distinct ways, by pacific settlement and war. War, he continued, had been under suspicion for a long time as conflicts merely had increased the number of controversies, devastated territory, depleted man power, and destroyed accumulated wealth.

The reason given by Murdock for the lateness in the renunciation of war by the powers was the former wars were between fighting men where combat was restricted to them in two dimensions and the civilian populations were not menaced by aircraft bombs and poisonous gases. Now, he said, war was fought in three dimensions.

"It is not by accident that the movement to renounce war came in the twentieth century," he said. "The radical changes in the nature of warfare wrought by science have left mankind no practical alternative. Ancient warfare threatened violence principally to trained combatants, modern warfare is between whole populations. It threatens the existence of everyone, including the men who declare it."

Murdock explained the Paris pact obligates 59 of the world's 65 nations to renounce war as an instrument of national policy and to seek a solution of all disputes by pacific means only and that it was universal in scope, excepting six Latin American countries.

Self Defense Right Inherent. Noting that it had been criticized for failing to renounce national self-defense, the assistant solicitor said: "That right is inherent not only in every nation, but in every individual. The fact, however, does not give express recognition to the right of self defense."

The pact was credited by Murdock as being the basis of the London naval conference where, for the first time in history, great powers agreed to limit all classes of warships.

He said "this is but the beginning" and recalled that an international conference on land armaments is to be held in Geneva in 1932 and another naval conference in 1935 for the limitation of arms.

Thus, he added, by limiting armament national budgets might be used for constructive social purposes instead of for competitive arms building.

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are "sold" on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring.

Drive a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

Over two million owners have proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

THE CORNERSTONE OF CITIZENSHIP.

"Royall R. Watkins, who presides over one of the state's criminal courts at Dallas, chose such a title for his manual on jury service," relates the Editorial Digest, Houston, and continues as follows:

"Thoughtful men and women who have observed and studied recent jury verdicts, will agree with Judge Watkins that much of the disrespect for law in Texas results from the refusal of Texans to take their jury service seriously. With more than three thousand youths, twenty-five years and younger, lodged within Texas prisons, it is obvious that something is amiss. Other factors may contribute to so sorry a situation—undoubtedly many of them do—but lax jurors must accept a large portion of the blame.

"It is improbable, however, that jurors will recognize what an important and fundamental role they play in the scheme of democracy, until and unless they are educated to the solemnity of that privilege and duty. Many, many men and women realize that the right to trial by jury was the first significant achievement of free men? That that right has been jealously guarded and protected throughout the history of our own Democracy? That failure of juries to render proper verdicts gnaws at the very foundation of popular government?"

"In Judge Watkins' 'Cornerstone of Citizenship' these truths are driven home with a force which loses nothing by reason of the judicial dignity that pervades the work.

"The book is designed primarily for supplementing study in school and college 'Civics.' A companion work has been successfully distributed to prospective jurors in Dallas county. Readers of 'Cornerstone of Citizenship' will see how admirably it is adapted to school use. Texas will take a forward step in the education of future citizens when it is specified for use in every school in the state. Meanwhile, a constructive end would be served were it delivered to prospective jurors throughout the state together with their summons.

THE STORY OF THE "GREAT SEAL" OF THE UNITED STATES.

The almost unbelievable scope of George Washington's activities begins to stand out more sharply than ever as the approach of his 200th Birthday Anniversary in 1932 quickens popular interest in the long and intensely active life he lived. We know that he designed the first flag for his army at the siege of Boston, and had a part in planning the Star-Spangled Banner. During the siege of Boston he instituted the first attempt at a United States Navy. West Point owes its being to him. Indeed he seems to have thought of everything, in his zeal to see the United States firmly established in security and independence.

Only one thing closely identified with our government appears to have escaped his attention, perhaps because at the time he, 1884, when again it was already away from the Continental Congress and engaged in fighting for independence on the battle-field. In any event, as the Division of Information and design of the Continental Publication of the United Congress, was again renewed, in close Bicentennial Commission adherence to the original points out, the famous Barton design, the author, "great seal" of the United States was designed and exchanged would break the

JUST FOLKS

LETTER TO A BRIDE

My dear, comes the word you are married. How swiftly the years travel by. You, who yesterday begged to be carried about on my shoulders "up high," the child in the cute little dresses, who ate ice cream sodas with me. Now writes that old friend and confessor. A wife she has grown up to be. Though starting the news I shall own up I ought to have counted the years. I ought to have known you had grown up. But now your announcement appears. I find that I've carried and cherished. An early remembrance of you which with time hasn't altered or perished. Of the sweet little girl that I knew.

And now you are married! Well, dearie, My love and best wishes I send. May your faith never stale or grow weary. And devotion remain to the end. Though the years must bring heartache and sorrow, May nothing arise to divide. To the day that shall have no tomorrow. May that husband remain at your side. Oh, don't be misguided by pleasure. And don't be too frightened by care. View the world with an eye that can measure. The follies and dangers out there. Whatever God sends you can bear it. Together, but singly you won't. For trouble grows sweet when you share it. But pleasure turns base when you don't.

ecuted without his participation.

As the Division of Information says, perhaps this accounts for the curiously twisted and backward history of that indispensable adjunct of national sovereignty.

It is an historic fact, perhaps lost to sight, that the signing of the Declaration of Independence out of the way, than the Continental Congress, on July 4, 1776, appointed a committee to design an arms and seal for the United Colonies. In spite of the fact that this committee consisted of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Thomas Jefferson, all men of judgment and distinguished taste, the design they submitted to Congress was discarded and the matter of a seal for the United States was dropped for four full years.

In 1780 Congress appointed another committee to reconsider the discarded design, only to discard it again. Finally, in 1782, a third committee was appointed to settle the matter of a seal, and William Barton, A. M., of Philadelphia and Lancaster, an expert in heraldry, was employed to draw up a new design. Charles Thomson, secretary of Congress, suggested a few improvements, and from these, Barton designed the "arms of the United States," adopted on July 20, 1782.

Such is the story of the "great seal of the United States," so called because a "lesser" seal was also authorized but never executed. Then, on the adoption of the Constitution and the establishment of the United States of America, the great seal was placed in the custody of the Secretary of State, and ever since has been under his guardianship. On application, Americans on sight-seeing visits to the national capital, may see this symbol of the mighty authority of their government among the exhibits in the Department of State.

Three times in our history it has been necessary to replace the great seal, as the result of wear. The first replacement occurred in 1841, when Daniel Webster was Secretary of State. On this occasion the engraver was guilty of a curious blunder. In place of the thirteen arrows that belong in one of the eagle's talons, he engraved only six. It was already away from the Continental Congress and engaged in fighting for independence on the battle-field. In any event, as the Division of Information and design of the Continental Publication of the United Congress, was again renewed, in close Bicentennial Commission adherence to the original points out, the famous Barton design, the author, "great seal" of the United States was designed and exchanged would break the

A New Romanian Problem

RETAIL CREDIT STUDIED

The extent to which a prolonged disturbance of general business conditions affects credit payments and bad debt losses is being studied in the Department of Commerce's semi-annual retail credit survey covering the first half of 1931, according to information supplied July 24 by the Department.

Trends of credit and installment sales in a number of leading retail lines are now being studied for the first six months of the year for comparison with the corresponding 1930 period, when the shift from the relatively high levels of 1929 was first being fully felt. The following additional information was supplied:

According to Frederick M. Feiler, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the previous semi-annual surveys in the retail credit field, covering the entire year 1930, have indicated that on the whole the American people were meeting their open credit and installment obligations in an orderly manner, and that new commitments were being assumed in very nearly the same proportion to cash sales as formerly. The data so far obtained go far to support the view that retail credit has stood the test of depression in a highly satisfactory manner.

The new figures, says Mr. Feiler, will be watched with interest for the further evidence they will present as to the stability shown by the country's retail credit structure.

As in previous surveys, the current credit study will present comparable data covering open credit and installment sales in proportion to total sales, collections percentages on both types of credit transaction, returns and allowances as percentages of gross sales, and losses resulting from fraudulent buying and passing of bad checks.

Retailers in 25 leading cities of the country are being contacted as to their credit and collection experiences of the last six months. The study is being made by the questionnaire method, and the lines of trade being surveyed are the same as in the past, including department stores, furniture, jewelry, shoes, men's clothing, women's specialties and electrical appliances.

A feature of the current study is the growing interest which is being displayed by the retailers, according to H. C. Dunn, Chief of the Merchandising Research Division, who is directing the survey. This, it is explained, is evidenced in the increasing promptness with which the questionnaires are being returned to the Department for tabulation, and by the more complete data which the stores in general are including in their returns.

POLITICAL POSTMASTERS.

Department of justice officials were dismissed by President Cleveland in 1896 because of their "offensive political activity." While president, Theodore Roosevelt declared that men in public office should take no part in political campaigns.

First Assistant Postmaster General Arch Coleman disagrees with them. Addressing a postmaster's convention, he defended the right of postmasters to participate in politics; a defense widely interpreted as an exhortation to the presidential postmasters to show their loyalty and gratitude by getting into the 1932 Republican campaign now.

The National Civil Reform League takes exceptions to his remarks, and finds in them the necessary inspiration for a renewal of its movement to place all postmasters under civil service. Members of the league see great evil in a system which permits—even compels—public officials to play partisan politics to the limit.

As long as the spoils system survives and postmaster's terms are part of the spoils there will be postmasters in partisan politics. Their very appointments are in recognition of political services to be rendered to their party during their tenure of office, and though their salaries come from the taxpayers they owe their jobs to the party or the politicians.

No doubt there are many postmasters who earn their salaries, are efficient and play little or no politics. But there are some whose salaries are a total loss as far as the postal service is concerned. Their postoffices must, and do, get along without their executive services while they work for the good of the party.

If the Kansas farmer has plain tastes, and doesn't go in for the expensive Turkish cork-tipped types, he can get two packs of cigarettes for his bushel of wheat.

It seems a thankless task, trying to "humanize" a statesman who sends the secret service galloping out, post haste, to learn where you got the story.

It may take a wise man to realize he is a fool, but the realization spoils the enjoyment.

Famous last words: "Sure, stranger; climb in the back seat," which the questionnaires are being returned to the Department for tabulation, and by the more complete data which the stores in general are including in their returns.

A DIVIDEND CONGRESS.

America's struggle against economic chaos and governmental impotency was dealt a terrific blow when the electorate last November reduced the Republican majority in the lower branch of congress to two, instead of wiping it out. This dangerous situation has not been ameliorated by the death of four Republican members and three Democrats, placing the roll at 214 Republicans, 213 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite.

Actuarial tables indicate that five more members of the new congress will die before congress convenes next December. Whether they will be on the Republican or Democratic side of the house there is no way of knowing, but if the law of averages holds true death will be no respecter of parties during the next four months.

There is little possibility that the districts of the members who have died will return successors from another party. One district has already elected a Democrat, while the other deaths occurred in either strong Republican or strong Democratic districts.

As it stands now it is anybody's congress. A few deflections from party will throw control to the other side. There are enough Republican insurgents to throw control to the Democrats if they elected to desert their party. Even the lone Farmer-Labor member will wield power.

It pays to be upright. The crooked "S" means little, but the addition of two upright lines thus: "S" makes it very eloquent.

ROBBINS AND JONES WILL NOT ATTEMPT ANOTHER FLIGHT

FOG AND RAIN PREVENTED CONTACT WITH REFUELING SHIP AND EFFORT LAST

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Two Texan aviators, who twice had thought themselves well on the way to Tokyo for a non-stop refueling flight, rested here today after the failure of their second attempt due to inability to find their refueling plane in a sky world of fog and rain.

Messages were coming from Seattle, where they had started their flight, and other points, asking them to reconsider their decision to abandon the flight for 1931, but Reg. L. Robbins and Harold Jones, Fort Worth, Texas, fliers, insisted "it's too late to try it again this year."

Their refueling plane, which had landed for more gasoline at Ruby half way from here to Nome at 2:30 a. m. (6:30 a. m. central standard time) rejoined them here last night.

Robbins and Jones landed here at 7:35 a. m. (11:35 a. m. central standard time) after almost 27 hours in the air since they left Seattle early Sunday.

"When we came over Fairbanks in perfect weather," Robbins said, "and saw clear skies to the westward we thought everything was going to be clear sailing and it was until we got between Galtag and Unalakleet."

"Then it became foggy and rainy. It became right difficult to keep the refueler in sight and finally we lost it altogether. We realized the refueler could not get over the mountains to Unalakleet so we came back to Fairbanks and flew over town for three hours hoping (James) Matter, (and) Nick) Green would return so we could refuel and try again."

Motor Works Perfectly
"But when they did not return and the ground fog lifted we started to land, picking a hole in the fog to set down. We had 50 gallons of gasoline in the tank when we landed. Fuel consumption averaged 22 gallons an hour and the motor worked perfectly all the time."

The refueling fliers came down at Ruby after fighting fogs and clouds over mountain valleys leading into Unalakleet on Norton Sound. After they landed the weather became worse and they were unable to leave. Meanwhile the Fort Worth, unable to find the refueler, decided it was lost, and returned to Fairbanks.

One refueling contact was made between Fairbanks and Galtag, which is about 75 miles from Unalakleet, and 100 gallons of gasoline were taken by the Fort Worth.

Early last month the Texans were forced down on their first attempt at Solomon Beach near Nome when bad weather made refueling difficult.

Attention! Property Owners

You May Think that You Are Effecting a Saving by Handling Your Own Property Yourself, But Are You?

I don't claim that I am setting the world a fire selling real estate now, but you would be surprised to learn that on yesterday I handled two real cash buyers. One for a farm and one wanting to exchange a nice home in Dawson for a home in Corsicana and pay $1,000.00 cash difference. Some are coming alive to their opportunities and seeking investment in Navarro county and Corsicana.

Mr. Odie Burk

Told me this week that he bought his first piece of land at Powell on credit and paid for it before he ever got 10 cents for cotton. It shows that attention to your business is rewarded with success. What has been done, can be done again. There has never been a time that you could get better bargains.

Investigate these Specials

1026 acre improved farm at less than half value. Including teams, tools and crops. Not leased for oil. Low Taxes, and perfect title. 500 acres in cotton looks better than a bale to the acre. Federal loan payments no more than rent. Owner sold last year $996.00 worth of pecans off this level sub-irrigated land. You can't beat it in Navarro county at any price. Here is 58 acres on Federal Highway No. 75, near Exall Heights. The owner from Florida stopped off to list this yesterday and said, SELL IT.

A Victim of Circumstances

A sad case of the father passing on leaving his single daughter, who can not live there alone. I offer this six acres in Exall Heights at much less than cost, and it is paid for and willing to extend liberal terms to approved buyer.

Not a dollar against it, and will sell for much less than cost, if your car is in good shape and priced right. None other need apply.

If these few specials taken at random from my list don't interest you, I am listing other attractive buys most every day, and you can afford to let me know what you might be interested in. My life long residence here, and my activity for 25 years in the real estate business here should prove to you that I am qualified to serve both buyer and seller. ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES HONORED ODD FELLOWS DEAD

TWELVE MEMBERS LOCAL LODGE HAVE PASSED ON DURING PAST YEAR

Memorial exercises were conducted in the auditorium of the I. O. O. F. Home Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by Corsicana Lodge No. 63, I. O. O. F., for the 12 members of the local lodge who died during the year from July 1, 1930, to July 1, 1931. W. M. Huff was the principal speaker, and extolled the good qualities and characteristics of the departed brothers, and also explained the significance of the occasion. Nine of the 12 died since Jan. 1, 1931. The speaker outlined the ideals of the brotherhood and also gave a short sketch of each departed member, his length of membership in the order, etc.

J. I. Elliott presided and the invocation and benediction were rendered by Rev. J. L. Hines, minister of the Church of Christ.

Several selections by the girls' orchestra under the direction of Wm. O. Barlow, band master, were given. The girls' glee club and double quartette, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Christie, music supervisor, appeared on the program with several selections and Nina Thranert was presented in a solo, with Miss Christie at the piano.

W. J. Lunn, secretary of the lodge, read the roll call of the departed members.

In the beginning of his address, Mr. Huff stated that the gathering of Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, students and officials of the home and visitors, was for the purpose of paying suitable tribute to the memories and lives of the deceased brothers, reminding his hearers that everything was changing, and that soon those convened at the home there would also cross the Great Divide, and their spirits would soar to God who gave them.

ANOTHER MURDER CHARGED FILED IN MYSTERY SLAYING

STATE WITNESS AGAINST ARANSAS PASS YOUTH HELD IN GIRL'S MURDER

ARANSAS PASS, Aug. 6.—(P)—Officers of two counties today decried the intricate maze woven about the mysterious beach slaying of Dorothy Symons, 18-year-old Aransas Pass chorister.

In connection with the girl's death had been filed against Newton Yarberry, 22, her sweetheart, and Tommie Conner, 30-year-old carpenter and casual friend of Yarberry, was at liberty under $500 bond and Conner, last to be charged, was placed in the San Patricio county jail in Sinton late yesterday.

Examining trial has been set for tomorrow morning before Justice Carl Utterback.

Another angle developed when Corpus Christi police announced they believed a series of murders who made a series of attacks on women in south Texas towns during June held the secret of the Symons girl's death. They indicated they would investigate that angle.

The body of the girl, clad in a bathing suit, was found in a grave of mud and seaweed near the breakwater examining trial has been set for tomorrow morning before Justice Carl Utterback.

Conner testified at Yarberry's preliminary hearing at Sinton that he accompanied the Symons girl from the home of Mrs. Sidney Fowler, where she told her parents she would spend the night, to a hotel, and after their arrival the girl instructed him to leave for Yarberry would see them together.

From his jail cell Conner last night expressed calm indifference, stating he could prove his whereabouts from 8:30 o'clock last Thursday night until Friday morning.

Den D. Lee, sheriff of Nueces county, said the inquest brought out the fact that the girl's body was found in Nueces county.

NEGROES ARRESTED BY CITY OFFICERS WANTED IN WICHITA

going through the fire station, across Fifth avenue and into the alley back of the Navarro Hotel. As he made the break from the window Patrolman Sparks fired several shots at the negro from the police room but failed to slow him down. As the negro fled through the fire station door, he romped off a ladder on one of the pieces of fire fighting equipment, inflicting an ugly wound in an arm.

The chase led through the alley to Fourth avenue and into the alley in the block between Third and Fourth where the negro found his escape route by fire escape.

Treadwell who had taken to the chase with a motorcycle, and with Detective Griffin close behind and gaining fast. The negro then raised his hands in surrender and was led back to the city hall. He was later taken to a hospital where his wound was dressed. The second negro remained docile throughout the confinement under the eye of Patrolman Claude Patterson.

Detectives Nutt and Tickle recovered a suitcase carried by the negroes that contained five fur coats and several silk dresses and other merchandise. An investigation was started immediately in connection with the case. The Dallas police department was queried when one of the negroes gave Dallas as his home address.

Wanted in Wichita Falls.

Further investigation Thursday morning revealed that the coats and other merchandise were taken from a store in Wichita Falls Sunday night. After a conference with Chief of Police Frank Burns of Wichita Falls, Chief Will S. Knight reported that a third member of the gang had been arrested and placed in jail at Wichita Falls, and that the Wichita Falls officers were en route to Corsicana after the two negroes here.

Chief Knight said that the negroes told him that they had been brought to Ennis Tuesday by the third member of the gang, and after Ennis officers had arrested one of them but later released him, they had come to Corsicana, reaching here Tuesday night. A quantity of the stolen merchandise was reported sold in Ennis, and Chief Nutt was engaged in collecting a portion of the loot sold in Corsicana Thursday.

The records of the police department show that the negro who made the attempt to escape had served two terms in the Texas penitentiary for burglary, sent up once from Ellis county and once from Knox county for three and two year terms.

In a hangar at Tachikawa air-drome, Seattle has offered a $25,000 prize for the first pilot making the flight.

Moyle and Allen brought with them a new tail assembly and a supercharger for the plane in which two projected trans-Pacific flights have been started.

The City of Tacoma was brought to Japan last year by Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty, the latter Wiley Post's partner on the world-girdling flight that required but eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes. Bromley and Gatty flew 1200 miles toward their announced destination, Tacoma, Wash. When a broken exhaust collector ring forced them back. Subsequently, Thomas Ash, another American aviator, decided to tackle the north Pacific in the City of Tacoma. He renamed the plane the "Pacific" and flew it to Samushiro beach, but was unable to lift the ship from the sand with its heavy load of gasoline.

Moyle and Allen faced a problem in the time payments amounting to $4500 on the plane Aug. 12. They said they would seek an extension.

For a time it was feared Pang-bon and Allen also would encounter difficulty with the officials. When news of their departure from Khabarovsk was flashed to the Rengo News Agency here, the Japanese aviation bureau said their plane might be confiscated in the event they landed in Japan without a permit.

The American embassy arranged to file a landing application in behalf of the fliers, however, and in view of this action the aviation bureau told the Rengo agency the permit would be granted.

Nelson was caught as he ran through a corn field on the farm of C. C. Seber.

Three members of the posse, J. E. M. Schultz and Tommie Youngblood, farmers, and Tucks Winslow, cattle man, saw him dart through the brush along the creek and sounded the alarm.

Schultz, Youngblood and Winslow all armed took out after him, the rest of the posse streaming along behind.

They surrounded the negro and Schultz said that he and his companions fired six or six shots into the air to try and frighten the negro into giving up.

So great was excitement that the negro ran into the arms of W. H. Alford and J. J. Simmons, two members of the posse.

Panting, disheveled and weary from a night of dodging posse members, the hasting cry of bloodhounds still ringing in his ears, the negro threw up his hands and gave up.

Nelson said he did not know where Tolson was.

"I left him last night by the church," Nelson said. "He found a hammer and hammered the handcuffs off us and we separated. "George is the one who did the shooting. I just ran."

"I was afraid I was going to be hanged," he said.

Members of the posse turned Nelson over to Sheriff T. A. Binford of Harris county, who had been aiding Sheriff Ben Hicks of Montgomery county in the chase. Binford brought him to county jail and started back for Tolson.

MAGNOLIA, Aug. 6.—(P)—Armed possemen today were pressing a section-wide search for two men who were sought by possemen who were firing bullets into two officers who had arrested them.

T. J. Beyett, 40, Montgomery county constable, succumbed to wounds at 1 a. m. today at a Houston hospital.

Merle Dulaney, justice of the peace, was in a critical condition. A bullet penetrated his head. Two slugs struck Dulaney, one entering his head and the other crashing into his chest.

The negroes were riding in the back seat of the officers' automobile. One of them lunged forward and snatched Beyett's pistol, firing a bullet into the back of his head. He then fired bullets into Dulaney's head and chest. Dulaney drove the car to Montgomery and collapsed.

Incensed citizens rushed to the scene of the shooting and joined in the search for the negroes. Sheriff Ben Hicks of Montgomery county with a posse of officers and citizens arrived on the scene of the shooting and the negroes were running high.

Sheriff Ben Hicks of Montgomery county with a posse of officers and citizens arrived on the scene of the shooting and the negroes were running high.

Bloodhounds from the central prison were procured and were used in attempting to trail the negroes in the swamp lands.

The officers had arrested the negroes on a felony charge and were returning them to Montgomery.

MEN OF NORTHLAND LINDBERGH'S HOSTS AS FLIGHT DELAYED

ing there with gas and oil supplies. The Northland was near the ice off Icy cape, 150 miles beyond Barrow.

The path through central Alaska striking the Yukon river and either stopping at Fairbanks, on the Tanana, or proceeding directly from here on the 3000-mile flight to Nome, promised clearer weather but at the journey's end, Nome, it also, was cloudy and raining last night.

Yesterday was given over by Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh to rest and sleep after their arrival on their 1100-mile flight from Baker lake. They had a warm breakfast at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Uguhart and then had nine hours sleep.

The entire population of Akavik and whites and Eskimos from miles around spent the day examining the glistering low wing monoplane and awaiting the awakening of the couple to entertain them.

With only a few hours of darkness here, 130 miles inside the arctic circle, between the hours of 10 p. m. and 1 a. m., Pacific standard time, the visitors had the opportunity of seeing the Eskimo life for the first time.

Meanwhile, 700 miles to the west, coast guardsmen aboard the Northland made plans to refuel the Lindberghs' plane if the colored medical missionary, Dr. Henry Griest, has prepared his home, the only one with a bathtub, to receive the Lindberghs as honored guests.

At Point Barrow weeks of preparation to greet the Lindberghs have been under way with house cleanings of the native dwellings part of the work. The medical missionary, Dr. Henry Griest, has prepared his home, the only one with a bathtub, to receive the Lindberghs as honored guests.

STANDING MAJOR AIRPLANE FLIGHT NOTED THURSDAY

TWO ENTRANTS IN ATTEMPT FILY NON-STOP, TOKYO TO SEATTLE

(By The Associated Press.)
This is how the major airplane flights stood today:
Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh rested among the Eskimos at Akavik, Canada, more than a hundred miles inside the arctic circle, waiting for the weather to clear before the next hop on their flight to Japan.

Amy Johnson, British flier chosen by the International League of Aviators as the world's premier woman pilot, got to Tokyo at the end of a leisurely flight from England.

J. A. Mollison reached England from Australia, lowering the world's mark for the distance.

Parker Cramer, an American, turned up unheralded at Angmagalik, Greenland, on the way to Iceland and Scandinavia, apparently having flown from Canada without announcing his plans.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., having abandoned their efforts to lower the Post-Gazette record, remained in the United States.

Russell Boardman and John Pohlman, who flew from Mexico to Istanbul, remained in the United States capital debating their next move.

Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American pilots, reached Tokyo by boat to enter the Seattle sweepstakes.

STEERS FALTER BEFORE ESTELL'S STEADY HURLING

BUCCANEERS BEST SHREVEPORT; SHIPPERS SLAUGHTER SPUDDERS

BY BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

There is only one thing to do when a ball club wins nine of its ten games on the road—stand by and cheer as it leads the pennant parade down Flagville avenue. Such is the status of the Houston Buffaloes who put eight games between themselves and the second place Dallas Steers last night with a 7 to 1 verdict over Fort Worth.

Since leaving home port on an alleged crucial road trip the critics said would make or break the Buffaloes' pennant drive, Houston has won two straight from Shreveport; two out of three from Dallas; four straight at Wichita Falls, and the first game of their series at Fort Worth.

Otto "Tex" Carleton, one time bat boy for Fort Worth, turned in his 17th victory this season for Houston. He held the Cats to four hits. Carleton was wild, walking eight, but in the pinches he had enough control to keep the Cats away from home base in all except the eighth when Fort Worth scored a lone tally.

Joe Medwick, leading the league in runs batted in, drove himself across the plate a couple of times last night with two home runs off Dick Whitworth who went the route for Fort Worth, allowing twelve hits.

Estell In Form.

The Dallas Steers failed to strengthen their hold on second place, losing their series opener to San Antonio, 6 to 1. Tom Estell, a spitball hurler from the old days, turned in a seven hit game for the Indians.

George Murray, on the mound for Dallas, was after his seventh straight victory and his 15th of the season, but the big right-hander was hit hard throughout, San Antonio collecting 14 hits, and four bases on balls.

Lee Stebbins led San Antonio's attack with three hits in four trips.

Dallas lost the services of Leo Cotter, first baseman, for several days. On a close play at first in the third, Cotter was spiked by Tom Nash, and had to be carried from the field.

Spudders Lose Again.

The Wichita Falls Spudders went down for their fifth straight defeat, Beaumont winning 11 to 2. It was the opening game of the series. Beaumont drove Cooney to the showers, and finished with 15 hits off Cooney and Presnell. Schuble hit two home runs and Fritz one for Beaumont.

The Exporters staged their wildest rampage in the first of the sixth inning, scoring three runs, but the home team was unable to get more than one run in the rest of the game.

Opening a series at Shreveport, the Galveston Buccaneers got a jump on the Sports by winning the initial battle 2 to 1. Both clubs scored in the first inning, and from the second to the first of the tenth hit a 1 to 1 ball game. Ben April, Galveston catcher, settled things with a home run over the left field wall. Bednar had a slight edge on Lefty Lee in a mound duel that saw Galveston get seven hits against six for Shreveport.

MEN AND OLDER BOYS PLANNING TO ENTER SWIM SCHOOL

Several men and older boys have signified their desire to take advantage of the second division of the third annual Y. M. C. A. free learn-to-swim school, which will be conducted all next week at the Y. M. C. A. It was announced this morning by C. F. Broughton, physical director and instructor. The school will last one week, and students taking all the lessons will be able to swim at least 50 feet after the fifth is taken.

It is not necessary to be a member of the Y. M. C. A. to attend the school, and those doing so will not be obligated in any way to that organization. Over 250 young men and boys have learned to swim during the school's three years of existence.

The Y. M. C. A. management is desirous of having every man and boy in Corsicana who cannot swim to take the free lessons. Instructor Broughton stated today that the death from drowning toll in the United States is increasing every year, and it is hoped that the community's share of the deaths can be eliminated by men and boys learning to swim at the Y. M. C. A. officials.

Those interested in the free learn-to-swim school are asked to communicate with the local Y. M. C. A. officials.

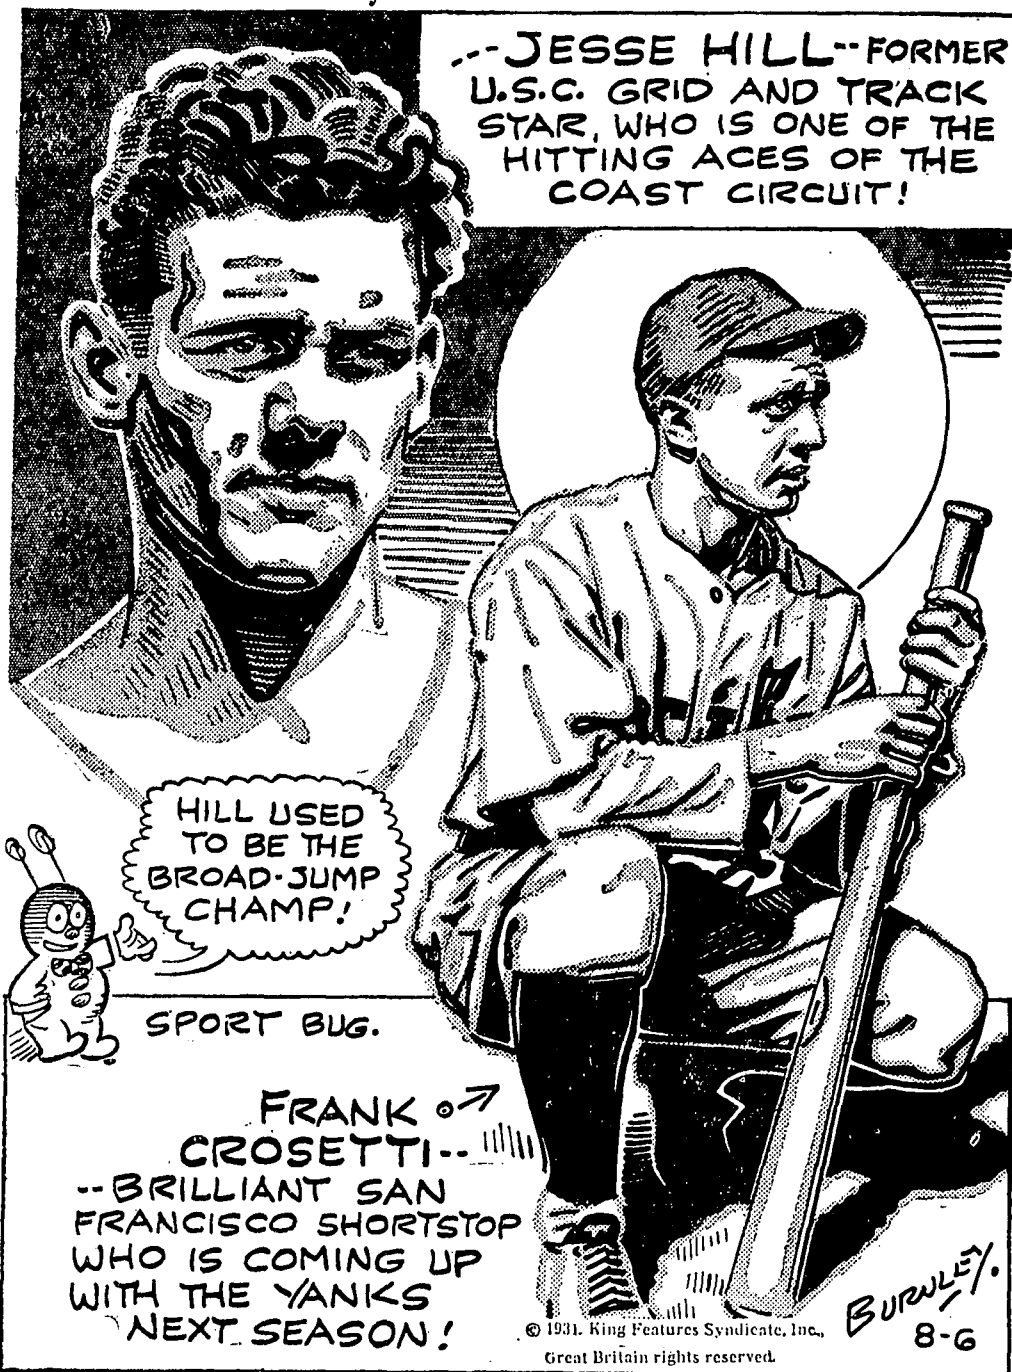

A funeral may be very moderate in cost and yet be a wholly beautiful and fitting service.

Rebuilding the Yankees

By HARDIN BURNLEY

FROM the diamond's richest mine—the Pacific Coast League—two gems of more than ordinary size and lustre have been dug up by the New York Yankees in Frank Crosetti, shortstop of the San Francisco Seals, and Jesse Hill, Hollywood center fielder. Either or both may join the Yankees in September. They now are burning up the West Coast, as that most inflammatory of reportorial phrases expresses it.

The acquisition of both Crosetti and Hill are moves, of course, on the part of Manager Joe McCarthy to rebuild the Yankee machine that has been increasingly creaky for about three seasons. Among the team's most important needs are a great third baseman and at least one more topnotch outfielder. McCarthy has announced already that he will try Crosetti at third base soon after he joins the Yankees. The veteran Sewell has shown many flashes of his old-time Cleveland form at that hot corner, but time definitely is exacting its toll and so "Lil' Joe" probably will give way next season to the youthful Crosetti for whom Ty Cobb and others predict a great future.

In Hill, McCarthy is hiring a most remarkable athlete. Jesse was a football and track star of the first magnitude at the University of Southern California. He was national broad jump champion and still is of Olympic calibre. Some experts rate this vigorous young giant to be the best all round ball player on the Pacific Coast—even better than the dazzling Crosetti.

Of course, Hill should have a far harder time than Crosetti in becoming a Yankee regular because the team is well supplied with crack outfielders. Consider Super-man Ruth, Spinkersque Combs, Mercury Chapman, and still promising Cooke on the Yankee picket line. Yes, it looks as though Jesse will get plenty of seasoning unless his batting proves extraordinary indeed.

By 1933, however, Hill as well as Crosetti should be regular Yankees unless they fail to make the grade next season.

BENNY LEONARD AGAIN REPORTED IN COMEBACK ROLE

SHORN OF FORTUNE, PLANS RETURN TO THE RING TO BUILD ANOTHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(P)—Benny Leonard, who quit the ring as king of the lightweights six years ago on the appeal of his mother, and with a fortune reputed to be $500,000, has decided to stage a comeback. He says so himself and so does Dapper Jack Kearns, former pilot of Jack Dempsey, present manager of Mickey Walker and now Leonard's comeback mentor on a five-year contract.

Kearns launched the ballyhoo today for Leonard with the statement that Benny would do everything in his power to win the lightweight crown he relinquished in 1925, to campaign for welterweight and middleweight honors among the present crop of gladiators.

Shorn of most, if not all, of the fortune he accumulated as one of the smartest and most popular ringmen of his day, Leonard's desire to recoup financially was believed a prime factor in his decision to return to the ring.

He has been reported contemplating a comeback so often in recent years, however, that the boxing critics have been skeptical. Their attitude today seemed to be that they will believe it when they actually see Benny in the ring again.

According to Kearns, Leonard already has worked out sufficient money to be in condition to fight by the end of August, and early part of September. His first bout, Kearns said, will be held in Chicago against an opponent yet to be selected.

Rosenbloom Winner In Listless Bout

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(P)—The experts may not know how he does it, but Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, who is popularly supposed to bounce from the night clubs to the ring and then back again, remains light heavyweight champion of the world.

Maxie disposed definitely of the challenge of Jimmy Slattery last night at Ebbetts Field by decisively beating the Buffalo Irishman on points for the second straight time and then hopped out of the ring to keep an engagement on Broadway.

Rosenbloom's victory, although far from being impressive, was much more one-sided than in their previous title match in Buffalo. He received the unanimous verdict of the three officials after 15 rounds of listless cuffing and clinching.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE — Sun Sports Editor

Houston Buffs again told the remaining Texas leaguers that they were going to the Dixie Series. Wednesday when the downed Fort Worth, 7-1, while San Antonio socked the Steers, 6-1, and at the present writing the Little Cardinals are eight games in the lead.

The Buffs have won 29 games and lost eight since the second half started, and incidentally the Buffs have won two and tied one in the series with Beaumont for the first half championship. From all indications, there will not be any play off in the Texas league this year.

A play off would be a fine financial thing for the clubs and the league, but the Buffs are apparently after the title.

Birmingham is ten and one-half games ahead of the Steers and the one place in the Southern Association, and apparently is as in on the Dixie Series coin as the Buffs.

Home run hitters Wednesday included Ruth, New York Yankees; Gehrig, New York Yankees; Arlett, Philadelphia Phillies; Marberry, Philadelphia Phillies; Hafey, St. Louis Cardinals; Grabowski, Detroit; Bissonnette, Brooklyn; Plutchik, Brooklyn; Berger, Boston Braves; Sewell, Cleveland; Montague, Cleveland; Holman, Dallas; Fritz, Beaumont; Schuble, Beaumont; April, Galveston; Medwick, Houston, 2.

Tom Estell, veteran spitball pitcher, product and resident of Navarro county, was the San Antonio pitcher that tamed the Dallas Steers Wednesday, 6-1. The only score made by Dallas was Holman's time run in the seventh inning.

A. L. Springfield, local agent for the Southern Pacific Lines, advised the writer that he is planning for a large crowd of Corsicana fans to ride on special train to Dallas on the night of Sept. 18, when the Corsicana Tigers, semifinals, open the 1931 season against the Highland Park eleven at Fair Park Stadium. A round trip ticket of $1.10 will be available and the train will go to Fair Park, alleviating the necessity of going to Dallas early and then getting out to the site for the contest. Present plans are that the special train will leave Corsicana about 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Special trains will also be provided for the Waco melee Oct. 30, over the Cotton Belt, at the Cotton Palace gridiron, and for the Thanksgiving melee in Cleburne over the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe systems.

After talking about the above-mentioned train for the Tiger-Springfield then said: "Boy, wouldn't a train to Tyler for the bi-district game be a dandy?"

GUS MORELAND IS FAVORITE IN GLEN GARDEN TOURNAMENT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—(P)—Match play competition started today in the second annual Fort Worth Glen Garden Country club tournament with Gus Moreland of Dallas the outstanding tournament favorite. Moreland, current state champion and winner of seven major tournaments, scored a 35-37 in the qualifying round yesterday for a 72. However, it was the low shot making of Ed Stewart, Glen Garden star, that led the medal test. Stewart blistered the course with a 36-34-70. Stewart's performance was one under par, and easily led the 210 entries. Byron Nelson, Glen Garden defending champion, put together a 35-42-77 to qualify. Dennis Lavender, 1929 state champion from Dallas, posted a 76. B. A. Schriever of San Antonio, who was runner-up to Gus Moreland in the recent Dallas Country club invitation, posted a 74.

Ziggy Sears, former star outfielder for the Fort Worth Cats, now an umpire in the Texas league who was suspended this week by the league resident for five days, qualified for the championship flight with a 75. Sears plays Ed Stewart in a first round match today.

Louis Becker Jr. of Dallas, who qualified with a 79, plays Moreland in the Texas champion's first round match.

Dallas led in placing out-of-town entries into the championship flight with nine.

What The Daily Sun Staff Photographers See Around the World

Important Find

Dr. Arthur L. Kendall (above), professor of bacteriology at Northwestern University, Chicago, has just revealed a new method of finding and isolating forms of bacteria hitherto invisible even under the most powerful microscopes.

Watery Comfort

The newest means of propulsion through the water in comfort is this marine neckband contraption invented by Herr Hubold, of Berlin, shown demonstrating its possibilities. The small boat-shaped affair is made of aluminum, and is fitted with two handles which are turned simultaneously, giving impetus to a pair of tiny propellers on the under side of the device.

Seriously Hurt

Joan Bennett (above), blonde movie actress, was severely injured when thrown from her horse while making a picture at Hollywood. Reported in great pain, internal injuries were feared. Miss Bennett's left leg also was fractured. She is the daughter of Richard Bennett and sister of Constance and Barbara Bennett, all notables of the stage and screen.

Urges Capone Quiz

Evidence brought out in Federal Court, Chicago, when Al Capone, notorious gangster, appeared for sentence before Judge James H. Wilkerson, and hastily asked to withdraw his plea of guilty, will bring about a searching Congressional investigation if Senator Thomas D. Schall (above), of Minnesota, can do anything about it. The blind Senator has demanded all correspondence in the Capone case in advance of urging an exhaustive probe.

Child Victims of Gangsters

Gangsters the country over should take a long, lingering look at this picture. It represents their latest achievement in murder and rampant crime. These child victims of beer war slayings in New York were shot down as they played in the street while a gangland "execution" car, spouting leaden slugs of death at an enemy, slowly drove by their homes. Lower left is Samuel Devino forgetting his own piteous wounds to pray for his friend, Mike Vengalli (upper left), 5, who succumbed from the bullets which tore into his little body. At right is Flora D'Amelia showing how she escaped death when a bullet grazed her right shoulder.

Proud of Kin Who Set Record

Overjoyed at the record-breaking performance of their kin in flying non-stop from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, to establish a new world record mark of over 5,000 miles, relatives of John Polando and Russell Boardman are shown in their homes at New York and Boston. Mrs. John Polando, wife of Boardman's co-pilot, with J. W. C. Price, backer of the flight, are shown in upper photo as they read of the success of the intrepid airmen. Lower photo depicts, left to right, Alice Boardman, Jane Boardman and Mrs. Russell Boardman, sister, daughter and wife, respectively, of Russell Boardman, co-pilot of Polando.

Lindberghs in Ottawa

Leaving the wharf at the Rockcliffe Airport, Ottawa, Can., after making their first stop on foreign soil during their long flight to the Orient, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are shown above with Col. Hanford MacNider, U. S. Minister to Canada. The Lindberghs plan a few days' rest on some secluded lake before continuing the journey to Tokyo.

Baby-Killing in Gang Battle

Sounded Nation's Crime Tocsin

Shooting of Five Children by New York Gangsters Was Spur Needed to Goad America Into a Fight to a Finish Against Wanton Murder and Rampant Crime of Lawless Mobs.

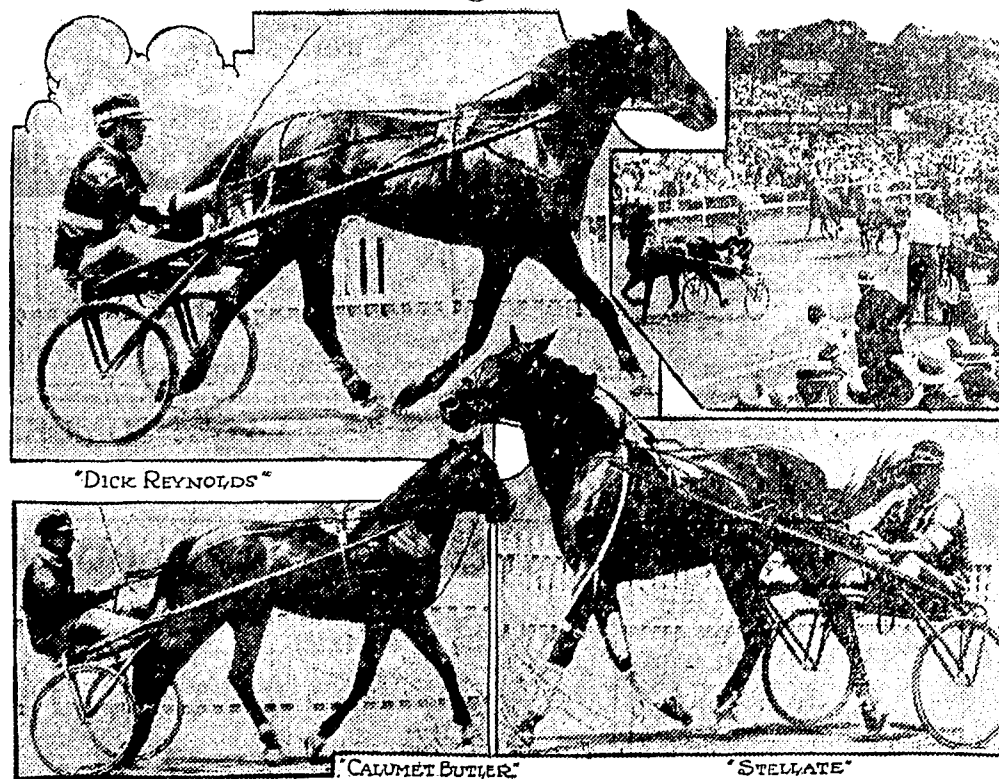

The indignation of the entire nation has been aroused by the atrocious shooting of five children in New York's "Little Italy," when gangsters made an impromptu battlefield of 107th St., where hundreds of children were at play. The shooting was done from an automobile with automatic pistols and shotguns, but the actual object of the attack was uninjured while the innocent children bore the brunt of the hail of murderous lead. When the gangster car sped away it left little Michael Vengalli dying with a bullet in his intestines; his brother Salvatore, rolling in agony with five wounds in his back; Michael Bevilacqua, three, shot twice in the back while in his baby carriage; Samuel Devino, five, gunshot in leg, and Flora D'Amelia, fourteen, shot in the shoulder. Michael Vengalli died eight hours later and two more of the children are in a very serious condition. The ruthless crime has aroused the public to the necessity of a merciless war on the crime incubus that has woven its tentacles into the pattern of our national life. Governor Roosevelt of New York is taking a personal interest in the prosecution of the hunt for the miscreants responsible for the outrage, as is also President Hoover.

Evicted Miners Take to Tents

Striking miners, evicted from homes owned by mine operators, found shelter in this hastily erected tent colony constructed near the Coverdale Mine property, Pittsburgh, Pa., when, with "bags and baggage," they were ordered out of their homes. An evicted mother anxiously watching over her baby asleep on a rude couch on the ground is shown at left. The miners struck in support of their union.

Trotters Working for Goshen Meet

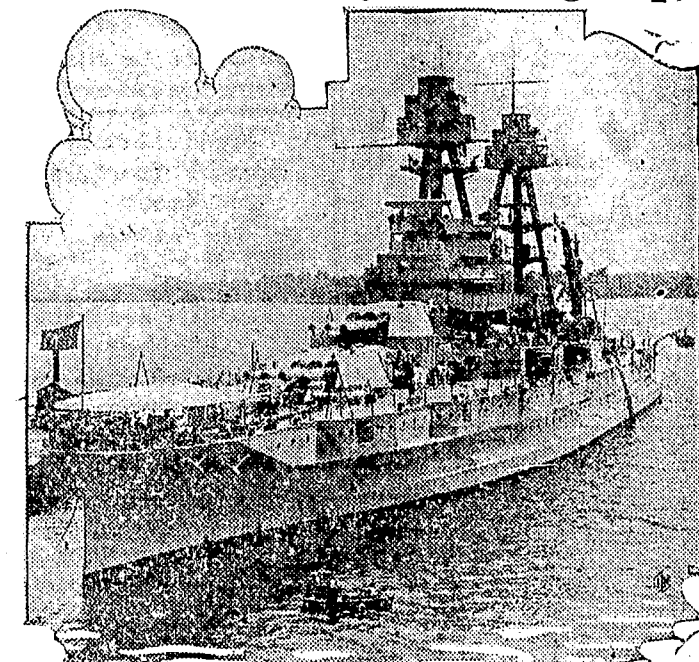

It takes three years to build up the rich purse of a Hambletonian Stake race, classic of the trotting horse world, the 1931 edition of which will be staged at Goshen, N. Y., August 12. Those fortunate ones who will see the classic will have an opportunity to watch the world's greatest trotters and pacers strut their stuff. Here are three of the entries who are conceded a more than even chance of winning the $60,000 prize. Dick Reynolds, owned by W. N. Reynolds, is a son of the pacing champion, Single G, and should make a brave showing. Calumet Butler, a racey three-year-old, owned by W. M. Wright, is fancied by many of the good judges. David M. Look's Stellate is also regarded as a very likely candidate for honors. Look won the Hambletonian in 1928 with Spencer and hopes to repeat this season.

John D. in Home-Like Role

Back to Duty as Flagship

The U. S. S. Pennsylvania is shown majestically leaving the Philadelphia Navy Yard, after a layoff of two years for repairs and overhauling, for Hampton Roads, Va., and from there to the Pacific Coast, where it will become the flagship of Admiral J. V. Chase, commander of the Pacific Fleet. The Pennsylvania is going to have the company of the U. S. S. Arizona from Hampton Roads to Cuba, Panama Canal and thence to its West Coast station.

Slew Her Babies—'Justifiably'?

Taking time out from the business of their long flight to the Orient, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife paid a flying visit to the Summer home of Mrs. Lindbergh's parents at North Haven, Maine. Photo above shows, left to right, Col. Lindbergh, Mrs. Lindbergh, Mrs. Dwight Morrow and Senator Morrow. The family posed just before the Lindberghs took off on the next stage of their flight to Tokyo.

EXERCISE FOR GARCE.

MAKE YOUR BODY GRACEFUL

Today Miss Forbes suggests two exercises which will give you a flat abdomen and slender, well shaped hips, as well as graceful method of standing or walking.

The most wicked thing you could do would be to let your face become old and your figure stiff as the years pass by. There is no need to grow old and commonplace. Old you must grow some day, but you can keep yourself graceful and young in line, you can keep a pleasant illusion of youthfulness even when you are an obvious 60!

Your figure will need exercise. If you can get out and play games, that will help. If you remember to diet, you will never overweight yourself with lumps of ugly flesh. If you have gymnasiums and swimming pools in your town, you can keep yourself in remarkably good condition by going there to exercise once or twice a week.

Or you can exercise by yourself. Try some of these: Stand with a hand on the back of a chair for support, rest your weight on your right foot (in which case you support yourself with your right hand), and kick off the shoe from the other foot. Then swing this leg forward, then round to the side and then back, always keeping the leg about as high as the hip, and the knee stiff. Repeat this procedure several times, and then change sides and exercise the other leg. You will be surprised at the stiffness of certain muscles, you will feel a pull on them even far up the back.

Then lie on the floor on one side and raise the leg as high as you can and relax. Repeat a dozen times. Turn on the other side repeat using the other leg. This is excellent for the hips and the abdomen. The other gives you balance, and a graceful carriage of the body. Other exercises will be given again.

Mrs. B. H. G.—If you intend to make the stray grey hairs black, you will have to dye them and that would mean that you dyed all your hair. Henna will tint such hairs so they are not very noticeable, and if the aim is merely to tint, the natural shade of the hair will not be changed. Make the same use of the sweet almond oil as you would of any cream. You may massage with it, use it for cleaning, or a powder base. To refine a coarse skin you would have to check up on all your habits of living, as there should be a diet that is well balanced and not overtax the digestion. Both bathing and elimination should be considered daily, and the pores should be closed after any sort of clearing by very cold spraying or rinsing.

C. M. H.—For the double chin, several times a day, toss the head far back between shoulders and go through a series of chewing movements. Vary this sometimes by massaging, beginning at the collar bones and massaging with finger tips in tiny circles, but moving upward over the throat then on over chin and clear up to the temples. With either process, give the skin a good toning rinse with very cold water. Mary T.—Consult the doctor about the trouble with your skin. Neither the bath nor the change of weather would have the effect of making your skin red if there was not some trouble in your system. It may only be the need of clearing the digestive tract fully.

EUROPEAN PRINCE AND TEXAS BRIDE REACH NEW YORK WILL VISIT OLD HOME OF BRIDE AT WEATHERFORD WITHIN FEW DAYS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Prince Jean De Liechtenstein and his bride, the former Aleene McFarland of Weatherford, Texas, arrived today from London where they were married one day before.

After a stopover of several days in New York, the couple will proceed to the small Texas town, where the Princess's father, the late Charles McFarland, accumulated a fortune in cattle and oil investments.

The Princess De Liechtenstein, slender, dark, and continental in manner, stopped at the hotel where she was married. During that time the princess had made from one to two trips abroad every year. The prince and princess said they plan to live in Paris and Vienna but expected to visit the United States every year.

Prince De Liechtenstein, who speaks English with the fluency of an Englishman, is in the line of succession to the throne of the principality of Liechtenstein, although he is not the direct heir. He is married to an American girl who has not affected his status so far as he is possible and his bride may become the rulers of the tiny principality which is located in Central Europe and has its own army, coinage and rights of sovereignty.

The princess of Liechtenstein has for 300 years been allies of Austria. They have palaces at Vienna and participate in Austrian social life.

EAST TEXAS OIL OPERATORS CALLED TO TALK SHUTDOWN

TYLER, Aug. 6.—(AP)—East Texas oil operators were called to meet here today to discuss voluntary shut-down of production in the field, as a more rapid method of effecting a price increase than proration legislation now being considered in the Texas legislature.

Previous attempts to curb production in the giant field, which last week reached a production average of nearly 600,000 barrels daily, have failed due to lack of unanimous co-operation from producers. The latest effort was launched at the request of Oklahoma operators who started a voluntary shut down movement before Gov. W. H. Murray closed all but stripper wells in Oklahoma by martial law. The meeting was called by Judge Charles E. Schfield, Henderson, president of the East Texas Lease, Royalty and Producers Association.

Cheney to preside at the meeting here today was Capt. J. F. Lucey of Dallas, independent operator who served as chairman of the arbitration committee that a month ago tried to put into effect a voluntary shut-down plan in the field. That plan, proposed by Tom E. Crandall of Dallas, would have limited wells in the field to 300 barrels a day, but it was abandoned after owners of numerous offset wells refused to join in the plan and other well owners refused to prevent drainage of their own oil.

Previous proration orders of the Texas railroad commission either had been suspended by means of court injunctions or were flouted by producers who pointed to the commission's lack of enforcement power.

W. E. McKinney, Tyler independent operator, received a telegram from Gov. Ross S. Sterling which stated that a shut down of East Texas wells would be an important step toward curbing the flow of crude oil, now that Oklahoma wells are shut down.

Both had been living at the Dallas aviation school where Crandall was taking a course in flying and James was employed as a helicopter pilot. Crandall took off shortly before 4 p. m. for a solo flight, landed at an emergency field near the school and picked up James.

A farmer told of seeing the plane, which was flying at low altitude, shortly afterward the plane dived into the ground with its motor open and burst into flames.

A charred wreck was soon strapped to Crandall, James did not wear one. It was thought that Crandall might have been able to leap to safety but stayed with the plane, attempting to fight it.

ALABAMA WOMAN VISITING RELATIVES DIED WHILE HERE

Mrs. A. H. Ellett, aged 50 years, of Owens Crossroads, Ala., who has been visiting her cousins, Mrs. H. Y. Ellett and George James, 24, of New York City, who "played hockey from flying school" late yesterday to do some stunting, and their bodies badly burned when their plane crashed and caught fire ten miles north of Dallas.

No opposition was found in the Seminole area, many operators settling Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, and Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett to declare their willingness to comply with the governor's order.

Meanwhile, the governor's war to bring back minimum prices of $1 per barrel for crude oil, and the determination of the major purchasers to retain present top prices of 60 cents showed signs of becoming an endurance contest.

Reports from Tulsa indicated none of the purchasers intended to increase prices, at least not yet, and the governor's war to bring back minimum prices of $1 per barrel for crude oil, and the determination of the major purchasers to retain present top prices of 60 cents showed signs of becoming an endurance contest.

Proration Law Upheld
From Guthrie came cheering news for the governor, shaded by the death supply of crude for a majority of a three-judge court in the former state capital upheld the state's proration laws, under authority of which the wells were closed.

The Chamberlain Refining company of Enid had attacked their validity. While no statements have been made by the pipe company, reports were current that at least some of them planned to go into the courts seeking relief from Murray's order. The shutdown has put charges of effecting a price increase and national refineries.

Governor Murray, seeking broader action in his war for higher prices, was balked in a move to shut the aid of Governor Ross S. Sterling, whom he asked to close Texas wells.

"Present Texas laws will not permit such action here, was the gist of a telegram from Austin to the Oklahoma executive. Sinclair answers.

From Tulsa, home of Harry P. Sinclair, came a scathing answer to the governor's order. Sinclair, in his executive order, implicating the oil man in an alleged attempt to bring about the governor's impeachment last winter.

He pointed out that the designation by Murray as a "monopolistic corporation," holds "only an unimportant fraction" of state school lands, Sinclair's statement.

"Yet our company is the only one mentioned (by the governor) as being responsible for depriving the school children of the state of revenue due them," the statement continued.

Sinclair said he was concerned "about the outside world's opinion of a state whose affairs are in the hands of a few men." He said the governor's proclamation of martial law.

Colonel Murray planned to revisit Seminole today to continue supervision of the closing in of fields near there.

"I'll visit Chandler after I go to Seminole, but all operators in other fields already are closing," he said.

Major operators gave no indication today they plan a court fight on the shutdown. Chicago, reports here said, a conference of executive of the Standard Oil companies, subsidiaries of Standard Oil of Indiana, was scheduled.

It was believed by the governor's field emissaries today that the use of troops to close smaller state fields would be unnecessary. Col. Murray was to receive a report of exempt wells in the greater Seminole area at Seminole today.

Oil companies in that district employ 3,714 men. Although they had no payrolls today many had no work.

Refineries of the state were using storage crude but they were faced a shutdown. The York Refining company here was scheduled to quit operations during the afternoon.

No Action Yet By Justice Department

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Justice department officials today said they had no immediate probability of federal action in the Oklahoma oil fields where Governor Murray has shut down wells under martial law in an effort to raise prices.

High authorities said the department had not been officially informed of the action, and that no complaints had been received. If federal action was taken as the situation now exists, it was said, it logically should be taken by the oil companies affected.

It was pointed out, however, that a situation might possibly arise later where federal action could be called for under rules affecting interstate commerce.

It was recalled that during the oil conservation conference held here some time ago, the suggestion was heard that some curtailment of production be brought about. Attorney General Mitchell had been asked to take action against corporations to curtail production clearly would be a violation of the anti-trust laws.

Wagner died without naming the person who shot him.

REFINERS RECEIVE OFFERS EAST TEXAS OIL AT LOW PRICES

GOVERNOR MURRAY'S EXECUTIVE ORDER STOPS OKLAHOMA CITY OUTPUT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5.—(P)—Oklahoma City refiners, facing a shutdown because of Governor Murray's complete curbing of oil wells in the city field, were deluged today by telegrams from East Texas offering crude oil at 10 to 15 cents a barrel on loading racks in that district. There is a freight rate of 24 to 28 cents a barrel from East Texas and it appeared possible to lay down Texas crude in Oklahoma City for around 50 cents a barrel.

It appeared that within 48 hours there would be but one refinery operating in the Oklahoma City field district unless Texas or other crude can be delivered here.

The Black Gold refinery, officials said, had crude for 15 to 20 days.

Refiners said the shutdown may affect independent filling stations here within a few days since they are running on low storage and depending on incoming supplies of gasoline and refined products. Others predicted a stiff increase in gasoline prices if the shutdown is prolonged and companies are forced to import refined products.

Black Gold, Gulf State, York Refining and other refinery officials said they had received the offers.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5.—(P)—With the Oklahoma City field's great gushers hushed by martial law decree and national guardsmen, those charged with enforcing the state-wide shutdown order of Governor William H. Murray moved on today to other protected fields.

Obeysing the governor's orders to close all the 3,106 wells in Oklahoma with a production of 200,000 barrels a day, Col. Cicero Murray, in company with Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett and Capt. Fenton Wood was to leave shortly before noon for Seminole.

Col. Murray visited the Oklahoma City field early this morning, finding operations at but 12 producing wells which were exempt from the decree. Detachment of state troops patrolled some sections of the state's fifth pool, in control against any order save those of the president or the supreme court of the United States.

Beginning with the Seminole and Wewoka areas, Col. Murray and Gen. Barrett were to start their tour of the state's fifth pool to enforce the order, calling out national guardsmen in nearby towns to aid them. Murray predicted they would have the task completed in a few days. He was to confer with the governor today.

From Seminole and Wewoka the movement will spread to the Tatum, Chandler, Asher and others of the 27 flush production oil fields affected by the executive order issued yesterday by Murray.

Must Pay $1 Per Barrel
The order, coming at the end of several days of impatient waiting for a decision by the governor, suffered from low oil prices, decreed that each well should remain closed until martial law until purchasers agreed to pay a minimum of $1 per barrel for crude at the wells.

At Oklahoma City the shutdown of nearly 800 wells was completed less than four hours after the troops moved in. Stripper wells and gas stations for fuel for drilling wells, were exempted.

Sinclair oil employees, against which company the governor almost fiery remarks in his executive order, asked guardsmen for written orders to close, but withdrew quietly when they saw Colonel Cicero Murray was in no mood for arbitration.

Another well Otto Bradford, city field proration umpire, met momentary resistance only when he threatened to destroy the well's separator.

Order Is Exhaustive
Going deeply into Oklahoma law, the chief executive used nearly 3,000 words in drafting his order closing the wells.

The principal points argued as reasons for the shutdown were:

1. Protection of school children of the state. (In oil production on school land produces a considerable part of the state's revenue.)
2. Conservation of the state's natural resources and to prevent their waste and exhaustion.
3. To protect the taxpayers' rights to and in the revenues from oil sources.
4. To establish the guarantee of the fourteenth amendment of the United States constitution to independent producers against taking their property "without due process of law."
5. To protect citizens from "general monopolistic control of their natural resources by corrupt combinations of capital who produce, transport, refine and sell oil."

Executive Powers Cited
Murray named the "supreme executive power of the state" as his authority for issuing the order.

The constitution declares the laws shall be "faithfully executed" under the governor, Murray asserted, adding that the oil conservation laws prohibited the taking of crude oil from the soil where there is no market demand "at a price equivalent to the actual value" of the crude.

He declared martial law areas as "reservatory" of the peace throughout the state," the order stated, adding that the safety of the state was threatened by reduction of wages and the numbing of employed by "monopolistic companies."

Published reports were that in excess of 7,500 persons would be left jobless by the closing of the wells.

Murray attacked the Sinclair Oil and Gas company and "their associates" whom he accused of "judicial juggling through injunction" asserted their combined operations of producing, transporting, refining and retailing petroleum products caused low prices for crude to increase their profits while ruining smaller independent

East Texas Oil Men To Plan Shutdown

TYLER, Aug. 5.—(P)—East Texas oil operators were asked to meet here Thursday afternoon to consider plans for shutting down oil wells in this field. The meeting was called by Judge Charles G. Brachfield, of Henderson, president of the East Texas Land Realty Producers' Association.

W. E. McKinney, of Tyler, leader of the shut down movement, requested Judge Brachfield to call the meeting. Operators will consider a shut down program similar to that titled in Oklahoma. A crude oil marketing agency will also be discussed. McKinney declared that over 30 independent operators have already agreed to shut down their wells.

Without such complete industrial facilities.

Watch Legal Staffs
The eyes of the industry were on the legal staff of major oil companies, but observers were without a definite announcement of whether court action would be immediately attempted to open wells. Nor was there confirmation of rumors one company may take appeal today to President Hoover.

From the ease with which the Oklahoma City wells were closed last night, it appeared that there would be no physical resistance in the fields themselves to enforcement of the order.

The tired night guard of the Oklahoma City field intruded east today into its dairy barn headquarters and there sought rest in newly pitched tents. Other detachments of the force, totaling 140 men, were sent to posts.

Producers took the shut-down activities quietly, many with smiles. The Wilcox Oil and Gas company, however, declared "guardsmen" Sinclair leases also were supplied with company men but they were directed to aid the guard in any way.

About 50 guardsmen were constantly in the field.

A close watch was kept on one producer where gates were slightly damaged and there was a possibility of it blowing in out of control.

Governor Murray said today he would "unhesitatingly arrest anyone who might interfere with the martial law edict."

"They don't understand that an executive order must in variably follow the law and can't be in the absence of law."

"There is a law prohibiting production of oil in Oklahoma when the price is less than the value of the oil and no other product. Therefore, the order could not be used for the same purpose."

"The order was issued against military authority used against a group of laborers on strike it is regarded as all right but when used to crush monopoly in oil, it is a 'bad precedent'."

"Let East Texas flood the market if it wants," he said. "When the tankage is exhausted the price of oil will come back."

No court, he said, "has a right to bring an order within a military zone, and the right of habeas corpus is suspended during martial law."

Pipelines Make Runs
Pipe lines got off to a slow start in the Oklahoma field because national guardsmen sought to prevent removal of available oil from lease and oil Bradford, field umpire, interceded at noon the pipelines were running all available crude. Governor Murray's executive order did not shut down pipelines.

Independent pipeline station operators, seeing that refineries here would be unable to meet demands by the end of the week, were worried. They are being forced to turn to the state for protection, and feared they might be obliged to buy out of state products or close down.

Guardsmen from Wewoka, Seminole and Keweenaw were mobilized today for enforcement of the order. The Seminole area shutdown under directions of Major Earl Taylor of Konawa.

May Benefit Texas
AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—(P)—Governor Ross S. Sterling expressed the opinion today that the oil shutdown in Oklahoma, if maintained any appreciable length of time, would increase the oil price in Texas as well as Oklahoma.

"If we could shut down all wells in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas for 30 days, you wouldn't hear all this 'holer about the price' the governor said. He previously had stated he did not believe he had the constitutional power to take similar action in Texas, the largest oil producing state."

Governor Sterling admitted that part of the former Oklahoma supply could be replaced with East Texas production, but he said lack of pipe line connections would make it impracticable for many purchasers to fill their needs from East Texas.

"I doubt the wisdom of Governor Murray's move but some times drastic action is necessary," Governor Sterling stated.

Oil Companies Are Plainly Perplexed
TULSA, Okla., Aug. 5.—(P)—Perplexity prevailed at officers of Midcontinent Oil Companies here today following enforcement of Governor Murray's shutdown order in this fight for a $1-a-barrel crude oil market.

At most offices the situation appeared to be largely a case of watchful waiting to see what other companies were going to do.

Refineries in this district continued to operate, with supplies of crude oil in storage. One refiner had a ten-day supply, another enough for two days and so on.

HOUSE COMMITTEE OPPOSES REPEAL OF PEDDLER TAX LAW

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(P)—The house revenue and taxation committee last night voted unfavorably on a bill to repeal the peddler tax law enacted at the regular session. The bill levied a graduated tax according to population on peddlers of farm products. It exempted farmers who grew and peddled their own products.

The committee gave a favorable report to a bill to provide for transfer of tax liens on property. Assignment of the tax lien in consideration of the payment of the taxes on the property, would save tax payers unable to pay the tax penalties and costs. Representative A. P. Johnson, author of the bill, said the tax lien would be a prior lien on the property.

than 7,000,000 barrels and the Empire Oil and Refining Company had a large supply.

Executives on Vacation
The shutdown order found several Midcontinent executives on vacation, including Rush Greenslade, president of the Gypsy Oil and Gas company, and Frank O. Pryor, president of the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing Company.

Kenneth Winslow of the Gypsy Company said it would take no action until supply would be forced to discharge about 100 men if the shutdown continued. He added his company planned no court action.

Harry F. Wilcox, chairman of the board of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, refused to comment. Other Sinclair officials said they would be obliged to discharge about 100 men if the shutdown continued. He added his company planned no court action.

Sterling Ponders On Sentences Of Several Slayers

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—(P)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today continued to deliberate whether he should commute the death sentence passed on Clyde Thompson, Eastland county, convicted slayer of Lucien and Leon Shook. His electrocution has been set for early tomorrow.

The governor's indecision centered about the equality of the sentences assessed Thompson and Thomas Davis, his alleged companion in the crime. Davis was sentenced to ten years.

NEW DIRECTORY OF CORNICANA ISSUED THURSDAY MORNING

INTERESTING SIDELIGHTS ON CITY ASIDE FROM GENERAL DIRECTORY GIVEN
Polk's 1931 Corsicana City directory is out today, with interesting sidelights on the city. The directory shows that 203 distinct kinds of business and professions operate here; that Corsicana's 15,202 people live on 168 streets; that the retailers of the city are in rear of 200,000 potential buyers; that the local collective bank account is $7,800,000; that there are thirty-one doctors, thirty-two lawyers, twelve dentists, fifteen druggists, twenty-eight butchers, three bakers and no candlestick makers. Thirty-one clergymen fill the city's pulpits, forty-nine gas stations fill its tanks, and eleven confinement hospitals fill its "sweet-tooth".

Classifications like "Blacksmiths," "Bicycle Dealers and Repairers" and "Horses and Mules" in the directory carry one backward from the mechanical age to more ancient, easy-going days. There is nothing, however, to remind one of the pre-Volstead times of blessed memory, unless, indeed, some of the names of people.

Features in the directory are: Distinction between tenant-owned and rented homes in the street section; a history of the city, contributed by the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce; where a post office and public official directory of the state of Texas.

It is pointed out that distribution of the city directory is not confined to this community, but that the latest issue is maintained in several branches of the country-wide free directory library system operated by the Association of North American Directory publishers, so that strangers desiring to know the names and addresses, statistics, trade data and a general idea of what the city is like. Another branch of the library chain is located at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, and directories of outside cities are available there for free reference.

Peculiarities of family nomenclature show up to advantage in the city directory, where all the names are marshaled. The first plane safely down was to have won this fateful race. Since they've collided there is quite a bit of confusion as to the names of the winners.

It turns into a race for life for both our heroes brave, and as they jump they both exclaim: "I hope our chutes behave."

W. T. Parker Tells Of Rolling in Snow
Bay City, Ore., Aug. 1, 1931. To the Corsicana Daily Sun and Corsicana friends:

I had a strenuous day yesterday. First I climbed to the top of a small mountain that overlooked Tillamook Bay and in the distance see the breakers of the Pacific ocean. Next I was rowed out to a sand bar and dug clams at low tide. After that I fished until I caught all the fish I wanted. After that I was taken back into the mountains to a fish hatchery where I saw at least ten million young salmon.

This city is surrounded by cheese factories, milk and fox ranches and is celebrated for its trees, cheese and furs. My trip to this place from Anacortes included a trip to Mount Baker 14,000 feet elevation, rolled in the snow and had a winter treat the last of July. As a matter of fact I have had to wear my overcoat every day now for nearly two weeks.

Around Mount Vernon on the Skagit river ninety per cent of the cabbage seed of the world is raised. Seattle and Portland are just a tale of two cities of this great Northwest. The depression has hurt this section less than any part of the U. S. A. It is a land of flowers, canneries, great trees and of rustling wide-awake people living in a bewildering paradise and they know it not.

W. T. PARKER.

Resolved, In the death of our dear sister, the Rice Woman's Missionary Society has lost a member in who by her gracious gentle life and her faithfulness to our society we have suffered an irreparable loss.

That she will be missed, not only from our society, but greater still from her home circle, where by her queenly life she held the affections of her husband and children.

That our church has lost a valuable member and likewise suffers with us in the loss we sustain. That we bow in humble submission to the will of our Father in Heaven, knowing he doeth all things well.

That we extend the deepest sympathy of our hearts to the family in this sad hour that has come to them and to us.

That a copy of these resolutions be made a part of the minutes of the society, and that a copy be furnished her family, the Christian Advocate and the daily press.

STERLING MAKES NEW APPEAL FOR HIS OIL TAX PLAN

URGES PASSAGE OF BILL FOR SAKE OF TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN
AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—(P)—Governor Ross S. Sterling today issued another appeal for his two-cent a barrel tax on oil which was defeated yesterday in house committee, 8 to 3, and will be brought to the floor on minority report. The governor made the appeal in his conference with newspaper reporters.

"Unless this two cent tax on oil is imposed I don't know how the school children are going to receive their $17.50 per capita apportionment," the governor said. He stated that with the property tax for school purposes at its 3 cents maximum the apportionment would be only about $16.50.

"This is also the only way I see to keep the ad valorem tax on the floor on minority report. The governor made the appeal in his conference with newspaper reporters.

He stated East Texas, which was responsible for the collapse of oil prices, would have to bear the greater portion of the tax because it produced more oil than all the rest of the state.

"The tax will not be an increase over a period of years because the average price of oil has been more than $1 a barrel," the governor said. "And it will give the state a stable income."

The governor pointed out that the gasoline tax was the same regardless of the price of that product.
